Adjectives

Adjectives can be used to describe or limit a noun or pronoun. Some articles can be adjectives.

Describe:

A descriptive adjective expresses the quality or type of the noun.

Example: A pretty girl.

The adjective, pretty, describes the noun (girl).

Limit:

A limited adjective points out a number or quantity. There are four classes of limiting adjectives:

1. Demonstrative: this man, that lady, these books
2. Possessive: my book, his sister, their uncle
3. Numerals: two men, many people, any book, some things

Articles:

These articles are also adjectives: a, an, the Comparison of Adjectives:

Adjectives have different forms used to express different levels of quality or quantity:

Positive Degree	Comparative Degree	Superlative Degree
cheap	cheaper	cheapest
good	better	best
bad	worse	worst
